Soccer as an opportunity

Soccer is a universal language talked all over the world and is striking children in different parts of the world, in different life circumstances, coming from poor or rich families.

When you will walk around through Zanzibar at Mnazi Moja ground in the late afternoon you will find children on every field and beach playing football together. With bare feet they run over the sand and through the grass dreaming of becoming the new Ronaldo or Messi. Most of the children in Zanzibar are victims of poverty and don't have many opportunities to make something out of their lives.

Sports including soccer is far more than a luxury or a form of entertainment. Access to and participation in sports is a human right and essential for individuals of all ages to keep themselves active, healthy and integrated in the society. Sports is critical to a child's development. It teaches core values such as co-operation and respect. It improves health and reduces the likelihood of disease. Sports brings individuals and communities together, bridging cultural or ethnic divides.

Ujamaa Soccer Kids Academy – where it is coming from?

The academy was founded by a small group of former national football players and old members of the Ujamaa Sports Club in 2015.

The main “trigger” was and is up to now the former national football player Mussa Khamis Mussa (BAUCHA), who played football in the seventies in Ujamaa Sports Club as well as in the National Team for his home island Zanzibar.

Since 2015 the Ujamaa soccer kids academy is supported by the German help organization Go for Zanzibar (GOZA) NGO.
